

Josefina B. Taylor

Attorney

Professional Experience

Ms. Taylor has extensive experience in the banking and finance industry. Her practice focuses on privacy issues involving the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act, business formation, online financial services, information technology services and contracts, web site legal issues, and general privacy law.

She previously served as an Officer with the Huntington National Bank in the Commercial Credit, Risk Management, and Business Service areas. Ms. Taylor has also worked as a technical writer.

Representative Matters

- Developed 50 state survey of banking law in assisting major financial institution launch electronic banking site
- Created document to define the rights and duties of retailers under the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act
- Developed compliance program to assist major financial institution in meeting federal banking requirements
- Participated in campaign for the use of electronic notices to bank customers

Presentations and Publications

- Columbus, Ohio; "Use of Electronic Signatures," The Daily Reporter; May 2002
- Columbus, Ohio; "Read the Fine Print Online," The Columbus Dispatch; August 2001
- Columbus, Ohio; "Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act Requirements," Columbus Building and Credit Bureau; March 2001
- Delaware, Ohio; "The Law and Cyberspace-An Introduction to the Issues," Columbus/Delaware Chamber of Commerce; January 2001

Education

Capital University Law School (JD, 2000)

Capital University (MBA, 2000)

Indiana University (BA, 1989)

614-565-1222

josie.taylor@tsibouris.com

www.tsibouris.com